Pastor's Pen

WITH REV. JENNY CANNON, LEAD PASTOR

There are several places in the Gospels where Jesus sends his disciples out into the world and specifically instructs them to travel light. "Take nothing for your journey, no staff, nor bag, nor bread, nor money—not even an extra tunic" he says to the Twelve in Luke 9. It seems from these instructions that Jesus wanted his followers to not only avoid being weighed down with unnecessary stuff, but also to practice the art of relationship. As they traveled from town to town with a notable lack of supplies, Jesus was encouraging his disciples to engage with people in meaningful ways- receiving hospitality, building trust and sharing their gifts. They were meant to rely on others, not to be personally prepared for every possible scenario that might befall them.

I found myself reflecting on this passage, a bit ironically, as we frantically filled and taped the last of our many boxes to get them loaded onto the moving truck. After what felt like a thorough purging of our household, we somehow still ended up with a truck packed to the gills, along with two carloads of people, suitcases, house plants, cats, a hamster and a bucket full of compost worms. All of which made the 1000+ mile trek with us from Maryland to Minnesota. Clearly we didn't get the same packing instructions as those original disciples.

But despite our many boxes, we also know that we actually don't have everything we need either. This is a big move for our family and we are well aware of how vulnerable we feel in the midst of it. But this experience has also helped us to recognize the value of meaningful relationships and how much we can and should rely on others. Pastor Elizabeth has been incredibly gracious throughout this time and we are so honored to follow in her footsteps in ministry here. And in addition to her kindness we have already received countless acts of hospitality from the leadership and congregation. We know that we will continue to rely on you for navigating important topics and questions about the church and the community, as well as tips on how to make it through our first Minnesota winter! And we can't wait to get to know you in worship and service and over meals and coffee and conversation.

It seems that Jesus knew what he was doing when he sent the disciples out into the world, without a single tunic or staff or Mayflower moving van in sight. There is value in experiencing the power of sacred community. And we are humbled and grateful to now be part of this one. Thank for your warm welcome as we travel together.

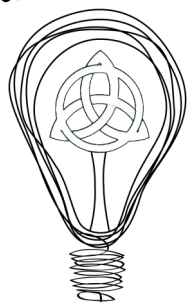

Grace and Peace,

Jenny

Hopeful Earthkeepers

The Hopeful Earthkeepers at CUMC hosted an informal electric vehicle gathering after parking lot worship on June 6, 2021. Participating owners ranged from slightly “nerdy” car aficionados to a busy working mom who had another EV owner show her a new “trick” about her own car. For the most part, the car owners were members of our own CUMC, although the Tesla S belonged to a helpful owner from the online Rochester Electric Vehicle group (see <https://www.rochesterelectricvehicles.com/>). We were all there just to share informative details and let people “kick the tires” – or just sit inside – plug-in hybrid or electric vehicles that they might not have even been aware of before this.

We had two Tesla X's, a Tesla S, a Ford Focus Electric, a Ford C-Max Energi (a PHEV – Plug-In Hybrid Electric Vehicle), a Chrysler Pacifica minivan (also a PHEV), and a Nissan Leaf. Fully electric vehicles, incidentally, are called BEVs (Battery Electric Vehicles). Some of these were as old as model year 2013, but one was brand-new in the past few months. This was quite a varied gathering, especially given the relatively short notice, showing a range of vehicles available now, both new and used. People driving PHEVs and BEVs tend to be very enthusiastic about their benefits and love to answer questions!

These cars would range in price from $30,000-100,000 when they were brand-new. Electric cars are no longer an option available only to the very wealthy. Electric cars have fewer specialized parts, and fewer moving/mechanical parts that wear out over time; one can expect to save thousands of dollars on maintenance and gasoline over the (generally much longer) lifespans of these cars.

Some all-electric cars can drive up to 400 miles on a single charge! Charging electric vehicles is already possible on existing electric circuits in many homes, although it can require several hours to overnight. However, one can also have a dedicated charging station installed for home use, and Tesla has produced Supercharger stations that they have committed to spreading out across the US, so that one can drive coast-to-coast by recharging for less than an hour at each station along the way.

It is an exciting time to keep an eye on electric vehicles, and their potential to minimize the burning of fossil fuels. Manufacturers across the board have committed to bringing out dozens of new electric models in the next several years: including SUVs and pickups! It will become much easier to locate and purchase electric vehicles in the future in Minnesota, with the current Clean Cars Initiative: “[This] is an initiative to tackle climate pollution and decrease Minnesota's emissions of greenhouse gases. These vehicle emissions standards will reduce transportation pollution from new cars and light-duty trucks and increase the number of pollution-free vehicles for sale.” Minnesota will join roughly a dozen other states in requiring carmakers that sell fossil-fuel cars here, to also make electric cars more available to Minnesota dealers, as well as opening the possibility of tax credits, rebates, and such, to make them more affordable. ~ Millie Webb

Community Healers

In Nadia Bolz-Weber's Sunday Pandemic prayers this March she wrote, “I'm not who I was a year ago. I want so badly to hug my friends again and laugh [...] again and have amazing conversations again and yet I am not sure how long I could do any of this before crying or just getting quiet. My emotional protective gear has worn so thin... I am so afraid that I will never be who I once was.”

Do you feel this way? Do you feel like you do not remember how to socialize outside of a computer screen? How to start a conversation with a stranger? We have gone through a collective trauma and now, we find ourselves not knowing how to step out of the safety of the comfort zones we created these past 15 months.

Your Community Healers Ministry has been worried about you, praying for you, and wondering how our ministry can help our congregation and neighbors find healing. Our solution for all of us is this: Multigenerational Play Groups.

George Bernard Shaw said, “We don't stop playing because we grow old; we grow old because we stop playing.” Games provide an easy sense of community; they do not force weird or awkward small talk. They give us a safe space where we can figure out who we are again. Stuart Brown MD says, “Those who play rarely become brittle in the face of stress or lose the healing capacity for humor.” Join us and find joy and humor in life again.

Our first event will be at Soldiers Field (across the street from the castle playground) following our outdoor worship service at 10am Sunday June 27th (Pastors Jenny and Kirkland's first Sunday) We will provide a plethora of fun outdoor games, suitable for ALL ages, croquet, corn hole, kube, bocce ball, ladder ball etc and we will provide water. Bring your friends and family, lunch, sunscreen, lawn chairs, and let's just have some fun together. ALL ages are welcome and encouraged to attend.

Save the date:

Saturday morning July 17th we will head to Oxbow Park to enjoy the zoo together. More details to come.

Thank you's from Garden Ministry

Garden Ministry was busy refreshing three garden areas during May and June: the pollinator garden on west side of Courtyard, the sloped area on north side under the Christ window and the west side by the front entrance.

These projects could not have been completed without the assistance of the Memorials Committee who made a grant to help pay for the pollinator gardens in the Courtyard and the CUMC Foundation who funded the upgrading of the garden bed in the front of the church and the replacement of the sod on the north slope with shrubs, perennials and boulders. These new garden beds are bird and pollinator friendly and have enhanced the church grounds considerably. A big thank you to the Memorials Committee and the CUMC Foundation for their assistance with these projects.

Additional thanks go out to Lois McGuire who volunteered last Fall to be part of the Gardens Ministry Planning Team. She and husband Bill are moving this month to Texas to be closer to family. Lois has brought so much fun and inspiration to the team. Lois and Bill are responsible for the beautiful Adirondack chairs that are at the front entrance of our church. The chairs add color, comfort and a welcoming atmosphere as you approach the main entrance. Thank you Lois and Bill for these fun and inviting chairs and for your service to CUMC over the years. We will miss you and we wish you the best with your new adventures. ~ Mary Schmidt

The CUMC Vegetable Garden

The CUMC Vegetable Garden was planted on May 31st by Gayle Fosterling and Kathy Lombardo and has been cared for over the past month by Gayle, Kathy and Doug and Bobbi Nichols. The garden is located by the Wesley House in the Southeast corner of our CUMC property.

The raised garden beds were built by Garrison and Kris Lloyd this spring and have created a beautiful garden space for our planting. Their work and planning of this project is so much appreciated. We would also like to express our appreciation to Jim Whiting Nursery and Sargents for the donations of our vegetable plants this spring. These two nurseries were very generous with their donations.

Our hope is to utilize the vegetables in our Saturday Noon Meal program to support those within our community experiencing food insecurity.

We would appreciate any volunteers that enjoy gardening to share in the efforts of our inaugural CUMC garden season. Your expertise would be appreciated! If you would like to volunteer in any capacity (watering, weeding, harvesting) please contact Kathy Lombardo at kathryn.lombardo@gmail.com or by telephone at 507-398-2686.

Thank you for your support of this new CUMC mission. Please feel free to visit our gardens this summer.

~ Kathy Lombardo

Notes From Nancy

Now that we are back inside the building again, there are some things that you may not have noticed. We have information on the wall by the Education Conference Center.

For those of you who are new, the Education Conference Center is on the southwest corner of the building. The information on the wall is a collection of pamphlets. They cover a variety of caring ministry topics and are called Care Notes. They range from how to help a child grieve, to explaining palliative care, to climbing up from depression.

I'd like to highlight "When a Loved One's Care Decisions Are in Your Hands," by Alice Camille. It fits in with our upcoming Sunday forum in August for Caregivers.

As our population ages there are more people who need to take on the role of ensuring a friend or relative's last wishes are carried out. It can seem overwhelming. Speaking from her own experience, Ms. Camille's story is one that can help us if we find ourselves in that role.

First, she asks her friend Dale whom he wants to have as his POA (Power of Attorney). She goes through all the people in his address book, but it becomes apparent he wants her to do it.

Alice learns that, "Respecting the dignity of our loved ones while choosing what's best for them can be a balancing act that demands constant adjustments to the relationship we had with them before the impairment."

She describes how their relationship changed now she was the caregiver. It's important to recognize that things are not the same for either of them. Furthermore, she advises caregivers to not take angry or critical comments personally. Like others I have known she realizes that the inability to have control over so much of life can be very frustrating.

She advises that you, "get what you need and ask for help." It can be a lot of work helping someone day in and day out. You don't need to do it alone. Many times there are relatives, friends, neighbors that will help when asked. There are also home care agencies and services that provide assistance.

I encourage you to check out the Care Notes and share them with friends. If there's a topic you're interested in that isn't out there, let me know and I'll try to find what you are looking for.

In caring ministry with you, Pastor Nancy
